*Definition of a Conflict of Interest

Conflicts of interest can arise in many situations, environments and forms of commissioning, with an increased risk in primary care commissioning, out of hours commissioning and involvement with integrated care organisations, as clinical commissioners may here find themselves in a position of being at once commissioner and provider of primary medical services. Conflicts of interest can arise throughout the whole commissioning cycle from needs assessment, to procurement exercises, to contract monitoring.

Interests can be captured in four different categories:

Financial interests:

This is where an individual may get direct financial benefits from the consequences of a commissioning decision. This could include being:

- A director, including a non-executive director, or senior employee in a private company or public limited company, partnership or other organisation which is doing, or which is likely, or possibly seeking to do, business with health or social care organisations;
- A shareholder (of more than [5%] of the issued shares), partner or owner of a private or not for profit company, business or consultancy which is doing, or which is likely, or possibly seeking to do, business with health or social care organisations.
- A consultant for a provider;
- In secondary employment (see paragraph 52-53)
- In receipt of a grant from a provider;
- In receipt of research funding, including grants that may be received by the individual or any organisation in which they have an interest or role; and
- Having a pension that is funded by a provider (where the value of this might be affected by the success or failure of the provider).

Non-financial professional interests:

This is where an individual may obtain a non-financial professional benefit from the consequences of a commissioning decision, such as increasing their professional reputation or status or promoting their professional career. This may include situations where the individual is:

- An advocate for a particular group of patients;
- A GP with special interests e.g., in dermatology, acupuncture etc.
- A member of a particular specialist professional body (although routine GP membership of the RCGP, British Medical Association (BMA) or a medical defence organisation would not usually by itself amount to an interest which needed to be declared);
- An advisor for the Care Quality Commission (CQC) or the National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE);
- A medical researcher.
- GPs and practice managers sitting on the governing body or committees of the ICB should declare details of their roles and responsibilities held within member practices of the ICB.

Non-financial personal interests:

This is where an individual may benefit personally in ways which are not directly linked to their professional career and do not give rise to a direct financial benefit. This could include, for example, where the individual is:

- A voluntary sector champion for a provider;
- A volunteer for a provider;
- A member of a voluntary sector board or has any other position of authority in or connection with a voluntary sector organisation;
- A member of a political party;
- Suffering from a particular condition requiring individually funded treatment;
- A financial advisor.

Indirect interests:

This is where an individual has a close association with an individual who has a financial interest, a non-financial professional interest or a non-financial personal interest in a commissioning decision (as those categories are described above). This should include:

- Spouse/partner
- Close relative e.g., parent, [grandparent], child, [grandchild] or sibling;
- Close friend;
- Business partner.
- Whether an interest held by another person gives rise to a conflict of interests will depend upon the nature of the relationship between that person and the individual, and the role of the individual within the ICB.
